

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

General recommendations on legislation to combat the cost of living, labor unrest, radicalism and a readjustment of the nation to peace time, basis were the features of President separate message late, as will the delivered Tuesday.

The peace treaty, the President told congress, will be discussed in a separate message later, as will the railroad question.

For the second time only since the President established the practice of addressing congress in person his message was read by the clerks.

The president made some valuable suggestions that would be of great value to the country if enacted into laws.

Farmers Union Meeting

The Carroll County Union will meet in regular quarterly session on Friday and Saturday, December 12 and 13, with the Biggart local. Meeting will be at Carter's Chapel church. Some very important matters were passed on at the recent state union and will be passed on to the county and local unions. These are matters of vital interest and this meeting should be well attended.

Friday will be business day, beginning about 10 a. m. A nice programme has been arranged for Saturday. Our new state president will be with us. He has been notified of the meeting and agreed to be there. There will be no dull hours. All the time will be full of business and entertainment. The public especially invited on Saturday.

LAMBERT STUDIO
Northwest Corner Square

From South Africa

J. Leversage and A. M. Mostert, of Balfour, South Africa, were in Huntingdon two or three days last week, stopping at the Johnson Hotel. They are touring this country studying conditions with the purpose of taking home with them information along agriculture and other lines for the betterment of the natives of Africa. They are now giving more especial attention to the cultivation of cotton and are touring the south in a car. They are very interesting young men and seemed well versed in the conditions of their country and hope to be able to take home with them facts and customs, domestic and otherwise, that will enable them to be of service in bringing about better conditions in their country.

A. R. Woollen Dead

A. Rogers Woollen died last Monday night in Memphis, where he has resided for the last 30 years. He was sick for more than two weeks. Mr. Woollen was born in McMoresville about 58 years ago. When a young man he located in Dyersburg, where he remained about thirteen years. He then went to Memphis to become secretary and treasurer of the Phoenix Cotton Oil company, a position he held when he died. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and was an highly esteemed citizen of the Bluff city. He is survived by his wife, one daughter, one brother and two sisters.

Contracts Let

The state highway commission has awarded the contract for forty-three miles of highway in Hawkins county, forming part of the Memphis-to-Bristol highway. Contracts have been let and work will be begun on the Shelby county part of this highway, and bids will be opened and contract let, if bids are reasonable, on the Carroll county part of the highway next Monday.

SAD DEATH

The Democrat failed last week to learn of the death of William Denhie Bunn, of the Chapel Hill community, the result of getting two fingers hurt while working in a grist mill. The accident occurred a few weeks ago; the fingers were amputated a few days later. He improved nicely for a while, when trouble developed and in a few days caused his death. On September 19, 1917, he was among the boys who entrained for camp from Huntingdon and was assigned to Co. M., 117th Infantry, of the 30th Division. He saw action in France and Belgium, and on Oct. 7, 1918, was wounded and gassed. He remained in the hospital until after the armistice was signed. He returned home last spring.

ENFORCE LIQUOR LAWS

A state convention was held in Nashville yesterday to open the campaign for the enforcement of the liquor laws in Tennessee. Among the number of speakers who addressed the convention were Gov. A. H. Roberts and former Gov. M. R. Patterson. Prominent anti-saloon workers both state and national were in attendance.

HEALTH AND MONEY RED CROSS DRIVE

Anti-Tuberculosis Association
Selling Red Cross Seals—
Wants Co-operation

"Money can buy everything but health."

This old adage has been proven untrue by the Tennessee Anti-Tuberculosis Association which places on sale its tenth annual edition of Red Cross Christmas sale on December 1 throughout this state. These little penny seals have saved thousands of lives for the pennies collected in sales of the past have brought health for thousands of men, women and children in this state.

Next year 4,500 Tennesseans are doomed to die of Consumption—a preventable, curable and controllable disease—unless they can have help.

All that these people need is medical care and advice, good food, fresh air and a knowledge of how to take care of themselves that they may be prevented from infecting their families and their friends.

The Tennessee Anti-Tuberculosis Association does this with a staff of trained workers who are constantly traveling throughout the state and are working towards the day that each community will have a public health nurse to guard the public health.

Since it has been proven that "Money can buy everything, including health" the Association expects to sell 20,000,000 seals in Tennessee this Christmas. These seals will be and every letter should carry one of these penny messages of hope and health.

Take some of your squandered money and buy some health for your community.

JOHNSON-COURTNEY

The marriage of Miss Floyd Marion Courtney and Mr. Claude Johnson was solemnized on Sunday, at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 3 miles east of Milan, the Rev. H. H. Brown officiating in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

For the occasion the home was decorated with white chrysanthemums, with tall wicker baskets, with palms and ferns forming a background.

The bride wore a suit of French blue broadcloth, with trimmings of Hudson seal and wore a hat of gold tissue trimmed with black ostrich tips. Her flowers were a corsage bouquet of Bride's roses and valley lilies.

Miss Myra Betty, wearing a gown of brown velvet with trimmings of fur and a brown hat trimmed with ostrich tips and fur and a corsage bouquet of Russell roses, was the bridesmaid. Mr. W. O. McCarter was the groomsmen.

Following the ceremony a reception was held and later the young couple left for the groom's home where a supper was served.

REPUBLICANS PLANNING

By way of preparation for the presidential campaign of 1920, a state convention to perfect a strong organization will be held, by the Republicans of the state, in Chattanooga late in December or early in January, according to Hal H. Clements, chairman of the state Republican executive committee, and Jesse M. Littleton, member for Tennessee of the Republican National Committee.

Will H. Hays, National chairman, is expected to speak at the convention. It is understood that the names of Palmer, Johnson, Harding, Lowden, Allen, Watson, Coolidge, Taft and others will be presented as possible candidates for the presidency.

BOX SUPPER

The Cannon School gave a box supper Thanksgiving evening. A string band furnished the music. Mr. Lawrence Gibson was violinist and Messrs. Brummit and Albert Routin played the guitar. Miss Lilly Turner, teacher, read a scripture lesson and Mr. H. A. Vick, a member of the district advisory board led in prayer. He also delivered an interesting talk on education. The audience sang a song with Mr. H. A. Vick as leader. Mr. Vick was secretary and A. B. Smith, treasurer. Joe McAdams was auctioneer. Miss Eulah Pruitt handed the boxes to the auctioneer. Eleven boxes were sold the proceeds being $11.85. Rainy weather prevented some from attending.

Evangelist L. J. Miller, of Nashville, was in Huntingdon Tuesday and Tuesday night, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Neill Wright. He was en route from Council Bluffs, Ia., where he had been conducting a series of meetings, to Florida where his family are spending the winter and where he will hold his next revival services.
